Tianjin-Taipei financial cooperation talks were launched in Tianjin on March 29. The Municipal Standing Committee and the Deputy Mayor Cui attended the meeting and welcomed financiers from Taiwan.

Cui addressed the meeting, hoping to take advantage of the Economic Cooperation Framework Agreement (ECFA) and promote financial cooperation between Tianjin and Taipei on the areas of banking, securities, insurance, funds, renting and stock exchange.

As Binhai New Area integrates into the nation's overall development strategy, Tianjin is a huge potential market, with preferential policies which attract business from Taiwan.

The talks this year are co-sponsored by financial groups from both sides of the Taiwan straits, with more than fifty financial professionals and university experts in attendance.
